

Pets need good nutrition too – so feed them Pet Sun Chlorella

Who hasn't welcomed a pet into their family at one time or another? In fact, according to the American Pet Products Manufacturers Association, Inc. (APPMA), 63% of U.S. households own a pet¹. This means there are pets in 69.1 millions U.S homes! And 45% of U.S. households own more than one pet². But our pets are more than just animals who live alongside us. According to a recent study done by the American Veterinary Medical Association³, more than 51% of all dog owners think of their pets as "important members of their household⁴." Let's face it: As a nation, we're animal crazy. We take our pets with us on vacation and give them their own super comfortable beds at home (heck, there's even a television network devoted entirely to animals!). From fancy gourmet cat foods and designer-like doggie clothes, we unabashedly pamper our pets. And why shouldn't we? According to the APPMA, pets are not only great companions and incredibly cute, but they're also good for our health. Studies show that pets can help to lower our blood pressure and reduce stress, plus they help to battle depression and prevent heart disease⁵.

The best nutrition for you, the best nutrition for your pet

Maybe you're already taking the popular superfood Sun Chlorella—the green freshwater single-celled whole food supplement—yourself to help live your healthiest life possible. And because of the many health benefits available with Sun Chlorella, we created Pet Sun Chlorella in a wafer (treat) form for our furrier family members. Let's face it, our pets are exposed to the same environmental hazards that we are—from dirty drinking water to lead contamination, smoke and smog in the air they breathe, household cleaning items, air fresheners, and insecticides. That's why you try to provide them with the very best of everything – and here is where Pet Sun Chlorella can help!

Pet Sun Chlorella is a whole food supplement that is nutritionally packed with vitamins & minerals, protein, nucleic acids, purifying chlorophyll, Chlorella Growth Factor, dietary fiber, beta-carotene, lecithin, and a super natural herb known as eleuthero. Combined together, this unique formula may help to safeguard your pet against harmful elements, boost their energy level and metabolism, cleanse the impurities from their body, strengthen their muscles, beautify their coat and skin, and regulate their bowel health.

Give Your Pet a Natural Body Tune-Up

Just as chlorella has passed the test of time for over 540 million years, it can bring your beloved pet the same life-giving benefits that are responsible for its own survival. Only Pet Sun Chlorella can provide your pet with the nutrients they need to grow stronger from the inside out. Pet Sun Chlorella can give your pet a natural body "tune-up"! More specifically, Pet Sun Chlorella can help to:

- Build healthier teeth and gums. Vitamins A and C, magnesium, and phosphorus are important nutrients that can help strengthen your pet's teeth, and aid in healthy bone development.
- Develop a strong natural defense system. Pet Sun Chlorella has six times more beta-carotene than spinach. Beta-carotene is an antioxidant nutrient that plays an important role in protecting body cells from the damage caused by chemicals and environmental threats.
- Revitalize his or her health and development. Chlorella Growth Factor (CGF) is a powerful nucleotide-peptide complex found exclusively in chlorella. Made up of nucleic acids—the blueprints of life—this substance has an amazing ability to promote your pet's health and growth.
- Suppress his or her appetite. More than 20 important vitamins and minerals give your pet all the nutrients he needs, so he/she has no need to overeat—and has more energy for weight-trimming running, romping and play.

- Improve their skin and get a glossier coat. Lecithin increases the permeability of your pet’s cell membranes and speeds nutrients throughout your pet’s body. It also helps contribute to the complex balance required to maintain the health of your pet’s coat.
- Sustain healthy bowel function. Chlorella contains a significant percentage of chlorophyll and fiber to purify your pet’s internal system.
- Increase his or her energy and playfulness. The ancient Chinese herb eleuthero awakens your pet’s vim and vitality, and fights off harm from common stresses such as travel, boarding, surgery, and disease.

Why are all these nutrients so critical to your pet’s health? “We are being bombarded with environmental pollutants in our food, environment, and air,” says William Farber, D.V.M. “There are abnormally large amounts of hormones and toxins all around us. When I put an animal on herbs, supplement their diet with Pet Sun Chlorella, and perform acupuncture, it purifies their bodies and makes them feel better. They’re more energetic, brighter-eyed, and their quality of life is much better.”

The goal at Sun Chlorella USA is to promote the concept of “wellness” to everyone. This is the idea of living life to the fullest through regular exercise, promoting a sense of well-being, and a healthy diet. Our products provide the necessary vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants required for complete wellness. Our commitment to you and your pet is to offer a wholesome nutritional supplement that will allow your pet to achieve optimum health. Pet Sun Chlorella is the essential supplement for your pet to live a longer, happier, & healthier life!

For a FREE sample of Pet Sun Chlorella and a FREE informative health magazine, please call 1-800-829-2828 ext. 2604.

¹www.appma.org

²www.appma.org/press_industrytrends.asp

³www.avma.org

⁴www.avma.org/press/releases/040915_dog_ownership.asp

⁵www.appma.org/press_industrytrends.asp