More About Abigail Allred, L.Ac. M.S.O.M.:

In 2009, Allred traveled to Beijing and China in order to expand her education. She received intense hospital training and attended advanced acupuncture and Chinese herbal medicine colloquiums. While completing her studies, she was invited to complete an internship at the Samra Acupuncture Spinal Center and then chosen to participate at the Minority AIDS Project in downtown Los Angeles, a rare privilege and honor. Acupuncture has become an essential part of Allred's life as she recognizes the importance of nutrition, herbs and detoxification in the body's healing process. She integrates these into her practice along with various styles of acupuncture and other therapies. For more information on Abigail Allred, please visit: <http://www.abbysacupuncture.com>.

About Acupuncture:

For thousands of years, acupuncture has been used widely as alternative medicine. With its relatively low cost and minimal side effects, acupuncture has become a highly popular method of health care in the United States. Acupuncture can help treat the lungs, heart, auto-immune system, musculo-skeletal and neurological problems, the head, ears, eyes, nose, throat, stomach, bowel, psychological disorders, and more.

About Sun Chlorella:

Chlorella is a strain of green algae that grows in fresh water. This Superfood emerged over 540 million years ago, and was the first form of plant life with a well-defined nucleus. It's known as Nature's Perfect Superfood® because it contains the widest range of essential nutrients available in any single food source, including potassium, all of the B vitamins, magnesium, zinc and iron, 18 vital amino acids, beta carotene and lutein. Sun Chlorella has been very popular in Japan, and is gaining recognition in the United States. Sun Chlorella USA offers tablets, granules, extracts, Sunergize™ energy boost drink, Sun Eleuthero Tablets and Tea, Sun Chlorella Cream for the face and body, as well as Sun Chlorella for pets. Sun Chlorella, when used as a supplement with a multivitamin produces higher energy levels, better sleep, easier digestion, healthier blood pressure and cholesterol levels, reduced joint soreness and improved memory and alertness, and more.
